Main Lines

Happy New Year!

When you date your letters, the digit at the end of the line is "7," not "6."

Despite the holiday week weather, it promises to be a cold winter. Relief cases in this section have been on the increase for the last three weeks.

An $800,000 building development in Rosemont on land purchased from Mrs. Mary Austin is announced by Townsend B. Young & Co., Philadelphia building firm, who will erect twenty-six houses.

The annual meeting of life members and contributors of Bryn Mawr Hospital will be held at that institution January 11.

Donald Osborn, 18, Philadelphia, is under arrest for breaking into an apartment in the York Lynne Manor, Overbrook. The occupant, Miss Elizabeth Lukens, discovered the youth and told him to get out. He got. Police arrested him later in front of the building.

Mrs. Otis Skinner, wife of the actor and mother of Cornelia Otis Skinner, monologist, who died Christmas Day in New York, was organizer of the May Day exercises at Bryn Mawr College and a founder of the Art Alliance, Philadelphia.

Stephen H. Andrews, Jr., negro, has confessed beating and robbing three women on or near the Haverford College campus during the last year, according to Lower Merion police.

E. S. Malone has purchased the Colonial residence and half acre on Hillside road, Wynnewood, for $17,250.

Pity the poor Volunteers of America. They assembled 100 Christmas baskets of food and then couldn't find any families in Bryn Mawr, Ardmore or Wayne that needed or wanted a basket.

Perhaps government relief has something to do with this apparent end of poverty. Lower Merion's cases increased ten last week, the figure now being forty-eight, while Narberth's rolls list five instead of three.

Civilian Conservation Corps enrollments will be taken at 59 East Penn street, Norristown, from January 1 to 20.

Richard B. Schall New Physical Education Teacher

Richard B. Schall, of West Hickory near Warren, will succeed Allan B. Weatherall as Instructor of Physical Education of the Narberth Public School. Mr. Weatherall has been granted leave of absence until September.

Mr. Schall was formerly swimming instructor at the Y. M. C. A. at Warren. He has taught seven years in various schools in Western Pennsylvania and is a graduate of Slippery Rock State Teachers' College and received his B.S. in Physical Education from Temple University.

Mr. and Mrs. Schall will arrive Saturday and will be at the opening of school on January 4.

Four Have Scarlet Fever

New cases of scarlet fever reported last week in Lower Merion Township by Health Officer Marvin E. Reynolds are William Roberts, 8, Gladwyne; Patricia Ely, 10, Penn Wynne; Lewis McConnell, 5, 501 Rockland avenue, Merion, and John Dolan, 2½, Ardmore. Four cases of chickenpox, three of tuberculosis and one each of mumps and pneumonia were also reported.

Council Reappoints Present Health Board

Garbage Collection Contract Again Awarded to Mrs. Martha Funston

SOLONS PAY 1936 RENT

At a brief special session Tuesday night Narberth Council reappointed the five members of the borough Board of Health for varying terms, awarded the 1937 garbage collection contract to Mrs. Martha Funston, Conshohocken, and paid the 1936 rent for use of the borough offices.

Members of the present Board of Health, with the exception of Mrs. R. C. Hoffman, have been serving about a month until the end of the year following the ouster by Council of four previous members whose terms had expired. The incumbents were reappointed for the following terms, effective January 1:

Mrs. Roy C. Williams, one year; Arthur L. Cooke, two years; Daniel Leitch, president, three years; Dr. Edwin C. Town, four years; Mrs. Hoffman, whose five-year term expires December 31, five years.

These members will be sworn into office January 4.

On recommendation of the Water, Light and Health Committee, Mrs. Funston was awarded the garbage contract for 1937 at $1150, a decrease of $350 from the sum she has received during each of the last two years. Monday night the committee members, Eugene H. Davis, chairman, Clarence Kaebler and Roland Fleer, invited the five bidders for the job to a conference at Elm Hall. One bidder, W. Bloesenski, Newtown Square, withdrew by letter, and two others failed to appear. Mrs. Funston and Lewis J. Smith, president of Marlew Farms, Inc., who bid $998 for the work, were present.

After consultation the committee decided to recommend that Mrs. Funston be given the contract in view of the excellent service she has given the borough during the last eight years despite the fact that she was not the low bidder.

On recommendation of Finance Chairman Clarence Kaebler a payment of $870.72 was ordered for the Narberth Fire Company. Of this sum $800 is the annual rent (1936) for the council chambers and borough offices in Elm Hall; $70.72 is to adjust interest on the fire company's mortgage.

Firemen Put Out Apartment Blaze on Christmas Eve

Narberth's firemen extinguished a Christmas Eve blaze in the apartment of O. B. Duer, Haverford and Narberth avenues, with chemicals, holding the damage to about $200.

Fire Chief Charles V. Noel, who was in the Narberth Theatre, hurried across the street to direct the volunteers. Just as things were well under control an occupant of the building, unaware of the firemen's arrival, threw a bucket of water toward the smoking embers, the water landing mostly on Chief Noel's hat.

Packages containing Christmas gifts were stolen from three automobiles parked in or near Narberth just before the holiday. The parcels were the property of Mrs. Joseph Bright, Ardmore; Evan L. Moore, Merion road, Merion, and Dale Edgerton, Chestnut avenue, Narberth.

Warren Anderson, of Ardmore, Confessed to Robbing Arcadia Restaurant, Narberth, Three Times Within Two Years.

Warren Anderson, of Ardmore, confessed to robbing Arcadia Restaurant, Narberth, three times within two years.

William D. Ridgway, president of County Commissioners, told Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotarians Montgomery County is to have a Park Commission.

Penn Valley resident fined $17.75 for failure to aid "Fanny," Narberth postoffice mascot, after his car struck the dog, which was very slightly injured.

Thomas D. Vandiver Post, American Legion, Bala-Cynwyd, announced plans to build $6000 headquarters on Conshohocken State road, near Cynwyd Estates. Alec Hicks, Narberth, elected new commander of post.

Dr. LeRoy A. King, Narberth School Board president, elected head of Wynnewood road, had as Christmas Day guests Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Dow and family, of New York City. Joseph H. Perry, 3d, Harvard University student, is spending the holidays with his parents.

Young Folks Home For Merry Yule Enjoy Family Dinners And Parties

The Christmas and New Year's holidays for the young people of this community would seem to be as full as Santa's bag with good times for those who have rejoined their families for the Yuletide.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Wunder, of Windy Top, Ardmore, entertained at a bridge and supper Monday evening in honor of Miss Helen Lafore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Armand Lafore, of Penn Valley Farms, and Edward Forstall, of Rosemont, whose engagement has been announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Wunder are entertaining at dinner on New Year's Day in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic W. Lineaweaver and their debutante daughter, Miss Mary J. Lineaweaver, of Bentley avenue, Cynwyd, who are their guests over the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Lineaweaver, who are occupying their place at Coral Gables for the winter, have taken an apartment for their stay in the North.

The boys were transported through the courtesy of the Aronimink Bus Company to the Overbrook Golf Club, where they were treated to a turkey dinner. While at the tables a magician entertained them and afterwards for a twenty minute interval with magic, sleight of hand and card tricks. In conclusion Santa Claus handed a gift and candy to each of the boys.

The committee in charge was Gene Davis, Dr. Monroe Purse and William J. Drennan, principal of the Narberth Public School.

"Safety and Health" Club Meeting Topic

Motor Club Manager and Cancer Researcher Speakers for Narberth

FORUM NEXT TUESDAY

"Safety and Health" will be the subject of the first meeting of the New Year of the Women's Community Club of Narberth Tuesday afternoon in the Girl Scout Wing of the Community Building at 2.15.

F. E. Ballantyne, general manager of the A. A. A., will be the first speaker, followed by Dr. Stanley Reimann, director of Research Institute, Lankenau Hospital, who will talk on "Cancer, its Diagnosis and Treatment." Dr. Reimann is also Associate Professor of Surgical Pathology of the University of Pennsylvania, director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer and on the Executive Committee of the International Union Against Cancer. Dr. Reimann, who conducted the recent Cancer Forum held at the Bellevue-Stratford in Philadelphia, which 1000 people attended, states that eight patients, who attended, discovered that they had unsuspected cases of cancer. This early diagnosis of this dread disease, will thus result in a treatment, which will prevent a long siege of illness and ultimate death.

The major project of the State Federation of Women's Clubs is to aid in the great fight against the dread disease. Mrs. John J. H. Phillips, chairman of Health for the State, will be present Tuesday afternoon. She has made it a personal point to push the Cancer Research. Other guests of the club will be Mrs. Alfred M. Gray, president of the Auxiliary of the Institute of Cancer Research at Lankenau Hospital and Mrs. Rupert Hughes, of Haverford, past president of the Ethical Society and active in Cancer Research work.

The hostess for the afternoon will be Mrs. L. J. Cowie.

D. A. R. to Choose Delegates

The Jephtha Abbott Chapter of the D. A. R. will meet January 4 in the church house of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church, Lancaster avenue and City Line avenue, Overbrook, at 2 P. M.

Delegates will be elected for the Continental Congress in Washington in April.

Guest speakers will be Mrs. Clayton S. Titus, State chairman and founder of the Junior American Citizens' Committee, and Mrs. Claire Landell Althouse, Pennsylvania State vice-chairman of the Junior American Citizens.

Four Factors Figure in Appeal by WFIL

Adjustment Board to Weigh Arguments Regarding Location January 7

ONE MAN CAN BLOCK IT

Public hearing on WFIL's application for a zoning variance will be held 7.30 P. M. next Thursday, January 7, at the Lower Merion Township Building in Ardmore.

Expected to figure in a decision by the Lower Merion Board of Adjustment will be four factors:

1. The fairly clean bill of health given WFIL's proposed Bala location by a non-partisan investigator, Professor Knox McIlwain, of U. of P.'s Moore Engineering Institute. He recommended, and WFIL's President Samuel R. Rosenbaum seems willing, that the station install specified modern equipment, guarantee to prevent interference and correct it on nearby radio sets when asked, and be limited in the term of the variance—perhaps to one year.

2. The action of Neighborhood Club members, who voted thirteen to nine opposing the station's proximity, after hearing arguments pro and con at a public hearing December 22.

3. Signatures of 200 Bala-Cynwyd residents to a petition opposing the station, presented by Everett W. Bickley at the Adjustment Board's first WFIL hearing, November 19.

4. Final decision in the matter rests with T. Williams Roberts, St. Asaph's road, Bala, who holds a ten-year restriction against the West Laurel Hill Cemetery Company land, now zoned for "A" residence use, and whose classification cannot be changed without his consent. The agreement, which is recorded at Norristown, has seven years to run.

Mr. Roberts, as pointed out in this paper last week, holds with his brother about seventy acres of land near the station. At the Neighborhood Club meeting he declared himself fearful of limitations the station would place on real estate sales and values, based on admission by WFIL spokesmen that the thousand-watt transmitter would cause some interference to local radio reception.

Interference, according to Prof. McIlwain, would blanket an area one-quarter to one-half of a mile in radius, on WFIL's present thousand-watt power, and about one mile in radius on an anticipated step-up to five-thousand-watt power. From this degree of interference in the immediate neighborhood, he said old sets probably could not be rid. Radios bought within the past five years, however, could be freed of cross talk, growls, harmonics, etc., by installation of wave traps by WFIL engineers after residents make complaints.

Fireman Suffers Fracture While Answering Alarm

While on his way to answer a fire alarm Christmas Eve, John Paul Miller slipped on his front steps at 217 Essex avenue, Narberth, fell and suffered a compound fracture of his arm. He was treated by Dr. Romaine C. Hoffman, Narberth, and taken to Hahnemann Hospital, Philadelphia.

The fracture is at the right elbow joint.

Mr. Miller is an active member of the Narberth Fire Company.

The Spectator

Happy New Year

There is every sign that 1937 will prove to be a stirring year, and it should not be presuming too much to say that not the least of its trophies will be the continuance of the shift from ante-slump viewpoints to the acceptance of a more robust realization of what the factors are which make for a true prosperity and a real advance in the social order.

In the industrial scheme it would seem that a shorter work-week is inevitable, or some greater division of tasks, as it is claimed frequently that business as presently constructed cannot absorb the vast army of unemployed. On the other hand, business in this America in some years has been a fifth more than normal, as compared to its present status of 15 per cent less than normal, while the gainfully employed at this time, if we can believe the figures, represent 80 per cent of the total available workers, and so part at least of the slack should be taken up as trade gains in volume, which is expected. At any rate, some administration advocates say the stage is set to bring about a change by Federal fiat if no other plan succeeds, in which event the actual test of operating intelligence will hover around the necessity of paying a higher labor charge and yet not advance, to any appreciable degree, the selling price of the product involved.

The old guard will promptly say that prices must advance when wages rise, but we have learned sadly that such a concept only quickens the vicious circle, and so we are apt to hear more and more from the exponents of low-cost economics based on high wages, an alert school of thought which has for its support practical experience of a very substantial nature, including some instances where consumers' costs on major goods have been reduced considerably in the face of paid labor-unit advances which have exceeded 25 per cent. The Douglass theory of dividends to workers may also have its innings, for 1937 will be a listening year and old closets will not have to be ransacked for lace and lavender to adorn any plan

Lower Merion Quint Potentially Good But Lacks Co-ordination In Pinches

By TOMMY MACKLIN

Lower Merion's 22 to 9 defeat of Radnor last week at Ardmore was expected. The game served one good purpose for the Lower Merion coaches, however, that may help them in preparing the team for the more difficult schedule of games ahead. It showed the ease with which the Maroon players could miss the basket from scrimmage and also the lack of versatility they displayed on offense. The boys will have to improve about 1000 per cent in their play, if they are to finish the long schedule with a high percentage of victories.

None of the so-called dependables are yet playing up to anything near their normal basketball ability. Merritt Lentz, Wellington Ramsey and Reds Beck are the three who must carry the brunt of the heavy going.

Lentz is failing to use his teammates in his offensive tactics. Ramsey, a potential high scorer, has offset this strength with weak defensive work and failure to cash in on his many scoring opportunities. Beck has been losing his mental balance in the rough going, thus being of little value when the team needed balance in the pinches and all its scoring guns in action.

From a strategic point of view, the coaches must begin to insert a varied assortment of scoring tactics which are planned for individual teams. The usual form of Lower Merion offense is not going to maintain its past success this season. Opponents are thoroughly schooled in the Maroon offense, as such, and the Bulldog lineup is not graced with players who can be de-

Camels and Thunderstorms

Tuesday night of last week WFIL's representatives told their Cynwyd audience they seek only one thousand watts power, but they dodged being held to that, saying they hope eventually to step it up five-fold. Professor Knox Melhain, engaged by Lower Merion's Board of Adjustment to make a survey, declared one thousand watts would affect only fourteen homes within a quarter mile of the proposed Bala station, and possibly an additional twenty-one within an extra quarter mile. But he did not volunteer until questioned, this fact: if the station increased its power five-fold, the interference would cover an area with a radius of about one mile, or a much more sizeable segment of the community.

There is an oriental proverb about a camel that humbly sought shelter in a tent, asking only to rest his weary head inside until morn; the rest of his ungainly body would be satisfied outside in the cold. But before the night passed, he gradually wriggled his entire bulk within the tent, and the accommodating host was shoved out.

Prof. Melhain said Bala-Cynwyd would get one definite benefit from proximity of WFIL: our radios could be assured good reception from this one station during any thunderstorm. Thunderstorms being few and far between, especially during the long winter months, that compensation is one that should be immensely comforting to the majority of our neighbors next summer when they are away on vacation at the height of a thunderstorm, and wondering how the home folks can endure the lightning without the aid of WFIL.

The Day of Little Business

It is often argued that the development of large businesses—especially in retail fields—has tended to destroy little businesses and to make it next to impossible for a man without vast capital to set up his own establishment.

This argument has a strong appeal—but apparent facts contradict it.

During the depression, thousands of little businesses sprung up in this country—largely because of the difficulties of individuals in finding employment. These little businesses offered specialized services, or lower prices, or were the outgrowth of a new idea of some kind. Many of them found a ready welcome, and have prospered. With the return of better times, they are going ahead—and in due course a percentage of them will become big businesses.

Some of these little businesses failed—because they provided poor service, or did not fill a definite need. But many a large business has failed for the same reasons.

One has only to look around any growing community today and see a legion of opportunities in retail lines for young men and women who are willing to work, and realize that riches can't be earned overnight. Even as changing times made necessary big business combinations to serve the public, so the

Local Movies

"Gay Desperado" at Narberth; "Libeled Lady" Mon., Tues.

A Metropolitan Opera tenor, one of the best character actors on the screen and a daughter of a famous English theatrical family combine talents in "The Gay Desperado" at the Narberth Theatre the remainder of the week. They are Nino Martini, Leo Carrillo and Ida Lupino. The story is a tale of love, gangsters and music in Mexico and was directed by Rouben Mamoulian. It is a delightful light comedy with exceptionally fine photography.

Monday and Tuesday a quartet of stars, Myrna Loy, Jean Harlow, Spencer Tracy and William Powell, will be seen in that sparkling comedy, "Libeled Lady."

"Life Begins at 20," with Hugh Herbert, is the attraction for next Wednesday (Cash Award Night).

Sinclair Lewis' "Dodsworth," with Walter Huston, Ruth Chatterton and Mary Astor, is the feature for next week-end at the Narberth.

Comedy New Year's Eve at Egyptian; Bank Night Tonight; Big. Mat. Sat.

Surprises are promised in addition to "Our Relations," the side-splittingly funny Laurel and Hardy full-length comedy, at the Egyptian in Cynwyd starting midnight New Year's Eve and continuing matinee and evening this Friday.

"The Accusing Finger" is tonight's Bank Night attraction. Awards of $400 and $150 are due to be presented at 9 P. M.

For the matinee 2.15 Saturday, a special program of short subjects has been arranged, including all the popular cartoons—Toonerville Trolley, Popeye, Barney Google, Our Gang, Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck.

Saturday night, George Arliss will give a notable portrait in his gallery of characterizations, in "East Meets West."

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, "The Big Broadcast" will be in Cynwyd. Lacking very much in entertainment value, it nevertheless has an impressive array of stars including Leopold Stokowski.

Thursday matinee and evening, the Bank Night feature next week will be "Alibi for Murder."

That Friday and Saturday Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone and Clark Gable will star in "Love on the Run," and there will be a Disney, "Mickey's Moving Day."

Community Playground May Have Movable Grandstand

A proposal to use funds turned over by J. J. Cahrey, chairman of the Fourth of July Committee, to the Narberth Recreation Board to erect a movable grandstand on the Community Playground, was made at a meeting of the Harold D. Speakman Post, American Legion, Monday night at the Narberth Community Building.

The suggestion came from Henry A. Frye, borough solicitor and member of the post. The Legionnaires favorably considered recommending the project.

Beginning next month, the post will have a speaker at its meetings, Frank J. Dwyer, commander, announced.

which seeks to enter the arena of debate.

Organized labor, of course, will be conspicuous in the national scene and there is some hope that many of the disorderly factors which have confused the highly important labor situation will be brought to a reckoning. The right to organize and the right of collective bargaining are now writ large in the law of the land, many years after the same proper concessions were made in England (the large public interest is well protected by the British Labor Disputes Act), but our country has not as yet developed the kind of labor leadership or legislation which ought to be, and it can be expected that in due course more of our socially conscious young men and women, technically and academically trained, will be attracted to this very great division of human welfare, so that it may be freed ultimately from the graft and rackets and unintelligence which have for their chief injustice the cruel cheating of the working people who should be befriended.

Meanwhile, and until a better day comes, the onus of the present chaotic occasion should rest on those who begot the unions as now constituted, which means, by and large, the employers of fifty years ago, who had their own sweet way in the use of humanity and who seldom failed to make the most of it for their own benefit. In those days "down-trodden workingmen" was not a mere figure of speech, nor red rhetoric, as it may be today, but a thing which actually and extensively existed, as some of us who were brought up in $10-per-month homes still remember.

Also we are likely to see in 1937 the Utilities enlarging the constructive attitude which was too long delayed and which, if pursued, will save them from public ownership. There have been recent reductions in telephones, electricity and water and more of them may be expected, possibly a great part of that which could be given in the way of lower rates, particularly as it is being said that utility efficiency is so excellent, with operating economies being revealed so constantly, that a cut could be made in each quarterly bill and no harm done to the capital structure. Gas is another thing which will probably come in for special attention, as it is understood that "hotter" and cheaper natural gas is now in the shadow of Ardmore (if it has not already arrived), where it could be mixed with the artificial product and a low price made for fuel which would send Ralph Dunne and Joe Skelton seeking new worlds to conquer, an adventure which both resourceful gentlemen would approach with complete abandon.

In the township and in the borough 1937 should witness some reasonably large spending programs, as in both bailiwicks intelligent opportunities are manifest, to the end that the people may have more attractive and useful home places and assured stability for their realty investments and which can be improved by slight increases in the tax rates, if indeed increases have to be made at all.

366 Days of Progress promise a New Year of even greater public service

The Railroads of Pennsylvania thank you for helping with this Forward March

THE PUBLIC at large . . . industry . . . and the railroads that serve both, are woven into an inseparable fabric of mutual dependence. When one prospers, all prosper.

For this reason the railroads serving Pennsylvania are happy to report the great forward strides in service, in economic benefits, in employment that have taken place during the year just closed.

Riding along with the general upswing in business, the railroads of your state have earned additional revenues during 1936 . . . and this money has been put to work. It has gone out to thousands of employees—improving services for passengers and shippers, starting the wheels in hundreds of mills that supply equipment and materials to keep trains moving. Thus returning prosperity bestows its benefits on the citizens of our commonwealth.

On and on goes the march toward better times for the railroads, for industry, for everybody. No one factor, no one group has made all this progress possible.

Our sincere thanks—

...to our employees for their tireless devotion to duty in all phases of railroad operation

...to the public for confidence in the safe, swift, dependable transportation we have been able to provide

...to industry for entrusting us with the responsibility of moving its products economically, safely, and on time

...to public officials and especially to state legislators for their foresight and wisdom in not shackling the railroads with seriously damaging restrictions such as Excess Crew bills, train-length limitations, and other proposals that serve no useful purpose, but instead, increase rail costs, reduce traffic and reduce employment

...to those within our own ranks who have perfected ways of running safer and faster trains so that low costs and improved service in rail transportation can go hand in hand

...to all of these and to many others who have performed a useful public service—again sincere thanks.

Barring unnatural or unforeseen obstacles 1937 should bring a wider distribution of prosperity and new activity wherever the wheels of industry turn.

RECOVERY IS ON THE WAY—LET'S NOT STOP IT! Let's keep the track clear of unwise and ill-considered legislation which would discourage the initiative and destroy the progress that have put the railroads in the vanguard of the march toward better times.

And now let us see to it that we make the most of the New Year about to dawn

The last fortnight in the Bank proved that our neighborhood is quite abreast of the new spirit which prevails and which makes all of us stronger in our hopes for better things.

© Christmas Club payments have been larger than ever before and numerous checking accounts are being opened by those who have not heretofore employed banking facilities.

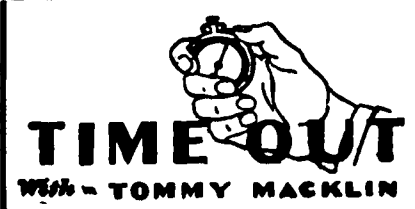

¶ It all means a recognition on the part of our Community that one's personal affairs must be organized properly if progress is to be made and gains actually capitalized . . . and with the cooperation which we are prepared to afford there is no reason why every household hereabouts should not use the excellent procedure which is available.

¶ Come in and talk it over . . . and remember what we say: That this Bank can be exceedingly helpful to you in all your financial plans and that we shall be most pleased to serve you.

25 cents weekly upward*

And To All To Whom These Presents May Come---We Wish
A Happy New Year Indeed

 pended upon to wander far from the practiced groove of play. This makes it tough for Coach Bill & Co., but they have shown in the past that they can meet whatever emergency arises.

The past two games have demonstrated that the squad has some versatile performers. Rabbit Sherwood and young Griffiths have shown that they can turn in excellent performances under pressure. Griffiths is perhaps the most polished player on the team. His slight stature is a handicap, but a good little man is better than many a husky. Charlie Hammonds has been coming along rapidly and showed much promise in the Upper Darby battle at the Palestra.

The truth of the matter is, Lower Merion has the potential power to rise to the top of waves and ride the crest to another league crown if the players all bend to the oars and pull together. If they fail to put forth all their energies the opposite will happen, and they will be engulfed deeper and deeper as the rising tide pours in.

The basketball code needs radical revision in the near future. As things now stand the officials are of more importance to the outcome of a game than the players themselves. There are too many violations of the code which do not penalize the offending team and too much interference with the continuity of play when neither team has been interfered with. In the Upper Darby game at the Palestra last week the two officials ruled the same situations exactly opposite to each other at different times during the game. Also the ball was taken from the two teams time and time again when the reason could be termed extremely technical. Example: when a pivot foot happened to slide a matter of one or two inches. The truth of the matter is, basketball officiating has become individual to the person in charge—his own interpretations of the code as the dominating factor. This works a tremendous hardship on coaches, players and the spectators who are trying to enjoy the game and understand the varied reasons for the whistle tooting. This is not a criticism of the work of the two officials of the U. D. game, but a dissatisfaction of some of the rules as they stand.

JANUARY THE FIRST 1937 according to all predictions is supposed to start off with a

HOP

As these prophecies are proven true during the year, increased confidence is bound to be stimulated, and this confidence is going to be the means of developing within the individual the courage necessary to make his long delayed plans and ambitions actualities.

Historically, as things begin to buzz in a building way, the law of supply and demand is again going to come into the head lines and material will become scarce and increase in price. The earlier in the year you make your resolution to build or remodel, the lower the cost of that improvement will be.

Service has been the key-note of our institution for years and we hope to do this job better in 1937. The Good Will of our clientele is sincerely appreciated, and it is our desire that this may be definitely broadened during the coming year.
